

SILHOUETTES

By ARTHUR SYMONS

Second Edition.

Carefully Revised and Enlarged by the addition of nineteen new poems.

Uniform with "London Nights."

Mr. Symons' new Volume of Poems, printed at the Chiswick Press, is now ready for delivery. The edition consists of 400 Small Paper Copies on Large Post 8vo, deckle-edged paper, bound in dark green cloth, at Five Shillings net per copy; and 15 Large Paper Copies on Royal 8vo hand-made paper, bound in dark green buckram at One Guinea net per copy.

THE RAPE OF THE LOCK

By ALEXANDER POPE

ILLUSTRATED BY AUBREY BEARDSLEY.

April 1896.

Mr. Leonard Smithers begs to announce the publication on the 20th of this month of an Edition de Luxe of the above famous Poem, printed by the Chiswick Press, in crown quarto size on old style paper, illustrated with nine elaborate drawings by Mr. Aubrey Beardsley, and bound in a specially designed cloth cover. The edition will be a limited one, and the price will be Ten Shillings and Sixpence net per copy. Twenty five copies will be printed on Japanese Vellum, and will be offered at Two Guineas net per copy.

Note.—This book was advertised to be ready last month, but owing to the very elaborate character of the drawings, and the care needed in their reproduction, its publication has had to be postponed. Only five copies on Japanese Vellum now remain unsubscribed for.

THE SAVOY

A New Illustrated Quarterly

EDITED BY ARTHUR SYMONS.

No. 1. NOW READY.

170 pages, 18 full-page Illustrations, and 5 Illustrations in the Text, Crown quarto, bound in pictorial cover, 2s. 6d. net.

No. 2 will be ready on the 24th April, containing upwards of 200 pages, and 20 full-page Illustrations.

The number will include a story entitled "A Mere Man" (by a new writer) and literary contributions by Cesare Lombroso ("A Mad Saint"), Paul Verlaine ("My Visit to London"), Edmund Gosse, W. B. Yeats, Havelock Ellis ("Friedrich Nietzsche"), Frederick Wedmore, Selwyn Image, Ernest Dowson, John Gray, Vincent O'Sullivan, Leila Macdonald, Aubrey Beardsley and the Editor. The illustrations will include work by Joseph Pennell, C. H. Shannon, W. T. Horton, W. Rothenstein, Ph. Caresme, Albert Sterner, W. Sickert, Lemmen, Max Beerbohm, and Aubrey Beardsley.

LEONARD SMITHERS,

EFFINGHAM HOUSE, ARUNDEL STREET, STRAND,
LONDON, W.C.

Uniform with "London Nights"

Mr. Symons' new volume of Poems, printed at the Chiswick Press, is now ready for delivery. Edition consists of 400 Small Paper copies on Large post 8vo deckle-edged paper, bound in dark green cloth, at Five Shillings net per copy; and 15 Large Paper copies on Royal 8vo handmade paper, bound in dark green buckram, at One Guinea net per copy.

SILHOUETTES

BY

ARTHUR SYMONS

SECOND EDITION
REVISED AND ENLARGED

LONDON: LEONARD SMITHERS
EFFINGHAM HOUSE: ARUNDEL STREET
STRAND: MDCCCXCVI

PRESS NOTICES ON THE FIRST EDITION OF "SILHOUETTES."

"Mr. Arthur Symons's 'Silhouettes' are graceful and musical poems, with the finish becoming their briefness. They are choicely executed miniatures rather than silhouettes. For the especial quality which almost all possess—and some in a great degree—there is no other description so appropriate as that vague word 'charm.' . . . Mr. Symons may be frankly accepted as a genuine poet—major or minor is at present no matter for decision, for, at his stage, minor may become major before all is done."—Athenæum, March 4, 1893.

"In their richness of suggestion and felicity of presentation they remind one of the work of Mr. Whistler. Perhaps this is how, if he chose verse as the medium for his expression, he might appeal to our mental eye."—Academy, Oct. 15, 1892.

PRESS NOTICES ON "LONDON NIGHTS."

"Those who have learned from his former volumes to know Mr. Symons as a careful maker of melodious verse, not without a gift of direct vision, and often distinguished by some felicity of expression, will open, as we did, his new book of poems with considerable expectations. Nor will any student of verse, simply as verse, be disappointed. Mr. Symons is no unskilled metricist. He has learned the secret of the melody of simple metres, and he uses his knowledge often with unquestionable success. He has learned, too, the value of simplicity of language, and in such verse as 'White Magic,' 'Memory,' and 'At the Ambassadeurs,' he hits the mark."—Saturday Review.

"'London Nights,' by Arthur Symons, is a very dainty, very clever volume of verses, mainly descriptive of various female characters—fickle, fleeting, beautiful, intensely human, and, of course, not unsuspectable, and therefore tormentingly unsatisfactory."—Glasgow Herald.

"'Nuits de Londres,' ainsi s'intitule le nouveau livre du délicat et vivant poète. Mais n'allez pas en conclure à des ténèbres de 'fog' et de 'mist,' à des scènes lugubres ou brutales. Imaginez ou, comme dit l'Anglais, 'réalisez,' au contraire, toute le raffinement et tout l'éclat de la vie nocturne d'un fantasiste élégant, épris du joli, du coquet—et du Beau, parmi les splendeurs d'un Londres intelligemment viveur, d'un Londres moderne à l'extrême et le plus parisien possible, avec la nuance anglaise, toutefois, distinction suprême, veux-je le dire, dans le style, joyeux parfois, léger, qui sait sourire et badiner sans jamais 's'emballer' jusqu'à même un soupçon de gaieté quelque peu grasse."—PAUL VERLAINE in the Revue Encyclopédique.

To MR. _____

_____ 189

SIR,

Please forward me cop of "SILHOUETTES," by
Mr. Arthur Symons, small paper edition at Five Shillings per copy net, or cop large paper edition at One Guinea per copy net, as published by Mr. Leonard Smithers, of 1, Arundel Street, Strand, London.

Name _____

Address _____